

Contact Information: Mike Haefner, President
president@MagnumHeat.com
320.587.6565

For Immediate Release:

MN Manufacturer filling world's need for affordable home heating:
American Energy Systems, Inc. acquires Country Flame Technologies.

January 31, 2008 (Hutchinson, MN) American Energy Systems, Inc. the manufacturer of the Magnum brand biomass and agri-fueled corn/pellet appliances is proud to announce that it has acquired Country Flame Technologies, A Division of American Products, LLC. located in Marshfield, MO.

The purchase includes the complete line of Country Flame products including the Ovation Series, Ingelnook, Model BBF, Model 02, Smart Fireplace Furnace, Harvester, Crossfire-C, Little Rascal and the Crossfire-P.

Sales operations and product shipment will continue out of the Marshfield, MO facility and product will be available out of the corporate facility in Hutchinson, MN. At both facilities, the passion of employees remains to serve the dealers with quality manufactured products while supporting Country Flame dealership locations and existing Magnum dealership locations throughout the U.S., Canada and International markets.

American Energy Systems, Inc. founder and President, Mike Haefner is excited about the acquisition. Consumers will now be able to have more affordable, renewable-energy, home heating appliance choices. This expanded selection will be available through a one-stop shopping experience, sure to compliment any home décor and pocket book. Magnum and Country Flame are both brands that are very quality and performance oriented. Together they offer an expended choice of dealership locations to serve homeowners and businesses who demand savings on their heating costs, want to “go green”, and become responsible and less dependant on fossil fuels. “People are really recognizing the need to conserve and save for future generations,” says Haefner. He adds, “We want families to be warm in their own homes without the need to cut their food and health care budgets for this basic comfort.”

American Energy Systems, Inc. is the Industry leader in burning renewable energy and has been for over 30 years. Burning energy such as corn, wood pellets, grass pellets, wheat, cherry pits, and other grains along with wood burned in EPA Phase II approved or exempt products can save hundreds to thousands of dollars on any annual heating bill.

Dealerships will be receiving a detailed information letter in the next few days. Note that programs and policies will remain in tact for the time being.

For additional information about the Magnum and Country Flame products, go to www.MagnumHeat.com or call 1-800-495-3196

www.CountryFlame.com or call 1-417-859-0990